Pointillism is done using hundreds of tiny dots to make a picture. From a distance the colours come together to from the patters, lines and shapes.

The ladybug and the Butterfly.

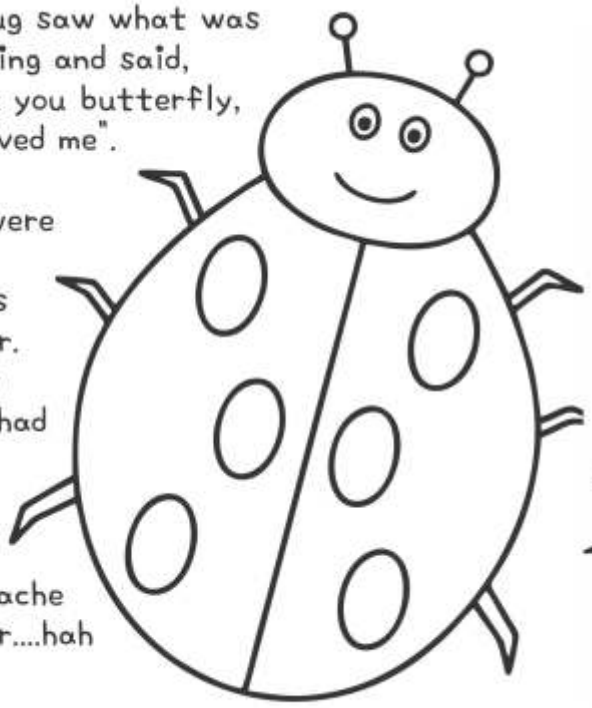

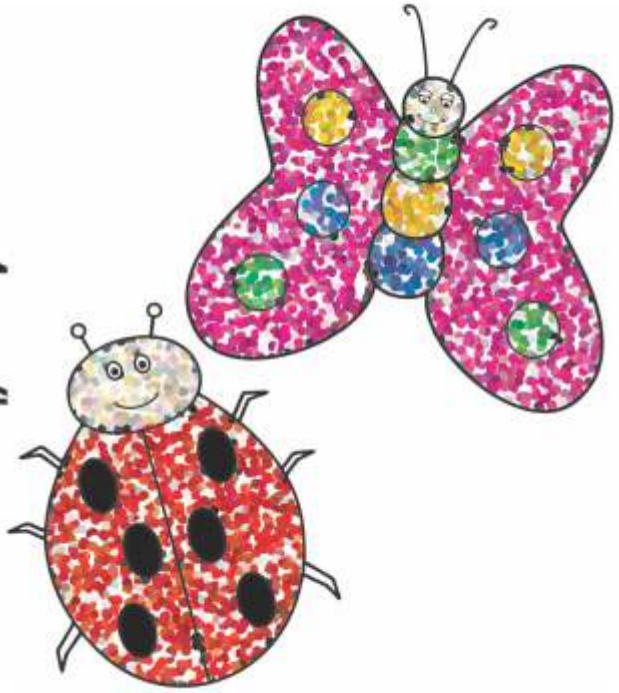

Once upon a time there was a beautiful butterfly whose best friend just happened to be a cute little ladybug. The ladybug would ride on the butterfly's big rainbow colored wings and they would glide up and down, over and around, all the way to town.

One day ladybug was sitting under a coconut tree reading a book. She wasn't really paying attention. Butterfly was up in the tree, looked down and saw a great big mean snake sneaking up on her friend ladybug. She yelled "LOOK OUT", but the ladybug could not hear. Butterfly thought really fast, "what can I do, what can do? I must save you!

Then Butterfly looked up and saw a coconut just barely hanging there and she smiled. She fluttered up above the coconut and waited for the snake. Sure enough, the mean old snake slithered right where Butterfly wanted him to be. Just as sneaky snake opened his mouth to bite poor Ladybug, Butterfly jumped on the coconut and knocked it loose! It fell down and conked old sneaky snake right on the head. Ladybug saw what was happening and said, "Thank you butterfly, you saved me".

They were best friends forever. Sneaky snake had a headache forever....hah aha

Picasso Inspired New angle faces

Abstract split faces

Practice with pencil on newsprint before beginning work with ink on good paper.

Step 1.

Using the paper in the landscape position, draw three oval shapes for the heads.

Step 2.

Split each face with an abstract profile line similar to those above.

Step 3.

Complete each face by adding eyes, nose, mouth and so on.

Step 4.

Connect the three faces with lines that represent hair. Add a suggestion of a collar, headdress, shoulder or neck. Color the picture.

The Hare and The Tortoise.

Once, a hare saw a tortoise walking slowly with a heavy shell on his back. The hare was very proud of himself and he asked the tortoise. "Shall we have a race?"

The tortoise agreed. They started the running race. The hare ran very fast. But the tortoise walked very slowly. The proud hair rested under a tree and soon slept off. But the tortoise walked very fast, slowly and steadily and reached the goal. At last, the tortoise won the race.

Moral : Pride goes before a fall.
